

Flaked Shortening Item # 601015

Improve the texture, tenderness, and quality of your product.

Gateway Food Products Company offers a wide variety of flaked shortenings, plastic shortenings, and liquid oils. Our pet food manufacturing customers typically use them as an ingredient for dry / moist animal feed and pet food as a nutritional substitute. We have earned the reputation for excellence by ensuring customer satisfaction through delivering superior products and innovative service. Our line of flaked shortenings helps to alter nutritional ratios, improve mouth feel and ease of chew, and serve as an excellent release agent.

How flaked shortenings deliver flavor and quality, while improving product yield

- Improve tenderness and mouth feel and ease of chew
- Commonly used as an ingredient in dog biscuits
- Promotes a healthier, shinier coat
- Help alter nutritional fat ratios (Sat / Poly / Mono)
- Serves as an excellent release agent
- Create air pockets and a symmetrical open cell structure
- Use less to produce the same amount of product—or more
- Reduce waste, with 100% recovery
- Lower labor cost through reduced handling, measuring and processing times
